HJ Heaven and Earth CB Training Center: Those who bear great responsibilities

Gi Seong Lee
October 12, 2026
Inaccurate Automatic Translation

I hope you are all well

1673rd Night Vigil of the Heavenly Garden

Summary of the Long Speech by the Head of the Heavenly Garden

Those who bear great responsibilities have many spiritual battles and trials, so we must pray and support them. Our tradition has always been to pray for the true parents and mentors. The culture of praying and striving for the Heavenly Garden and the true family four pillars for leaders around the world must be established. The path of Cain is the return path that achieves the will of Heaven by striving for Abel, so we must always pray for the center and strive for it in our lives.

Proof of being a spiritual academy student: I have been suffering from illness since I was young and leading a difficult life. In 2019, I underwent 40 days of training three times, and with new hope, I entered UPA and worked diligently, but due to unexplained headaches and anxiety about the future, I quit my job and faced difficulties. At that time, I decided to devote myself to spiritual training at the suggestion of my mother. There, I was able to resolve my personal problems naturally and gain confidence by feeling that I was receiving divine love. After that, while practicing love through Moshi training, I realized that I had never seen my parents fighting, and that they had a life of mutual support. I came to understand that a life of mutual support is a way of serving the divine.

If you pray and strive with all your might for the great virtue of morality and for your true parents, your personal and family problems will naturally be resolved. The cause of the shape is in one's disposition, so if one's disposition changes, the shape will change. In order to organize the cause of the sexual disposition of global conflicts and wars, you must strive with all your might. The Moshi way of life is not only to serve the heavens, but also to serve one's parents, to serve one's spouse, to serve one's parents and children, to serve one's neighbors, and to serve all brothers. If you gradually expand the scope of your service, you will fulfill the principles of the saintly path in your family, in your country, in the world, and even in the heavenly realm.

We are confined by the wall of time and space, and by the narrow wall of knowledge, so we do not know how much the intellectuals have gone against reason. Jesus was crucified, his father was led down the path of suffering, and now his mother is walking the path of suffering. The hardest part is that the people who have studied the principles a lot are making the path of his mother difficult.

Dr. Tyler Hendrix's testimony: On the day his fifth child was born, he was appointed as the president of America, and he has been diligently working on the mission of studying the true parents' theology, which is a single mother and her true parents. He participated in all-night vigils and was moved to tears by the heartfelt prayer of Abogi Omoni. When he woke up with a thousand times the scream of joy at meeting his true parents, he resonated with the feelings of the heavenly parents, resonated with the true mother, and resonated with the fleshly parents in the spiritual realm. At that moment, a sense of sadness came over him, and he wept profusely as he looked at his wife and children. While the father was being judged by the world, the mother had raised 14 children while bearing all the burdens of the world, and she had worked so hard. The mother and her feelings became one in the way they opened the path.

The training school is a monastery, a place where people of all races and nationalities, regardless of age or gender, come together as brothers and sisters. It is a place where people meditate, scream, pray, and exchange love as brothers and sisters, and where dance, song, and emotion naturally flow. It is a place where the pentecostal celebration of the fifth day of the month takes place every night.

I wish for the world's intellectuals to open the path from intellect to spirituality. Tonight, I will pray with all my might to move the throne of heaven, and I will gather sincere and earnest efforts so that my mother may be released.