Pondering Near-Death Experiences

In the September 4th edition of USA Today, Michael Collins wrote an article titled "Scientists ponder near-death enigma: Bright lights, visions and enduring questions." We are all pondering where we will be going when our time is up on this earth! when my husband Dietrich was faced with this moment, he was so serene. He said, "I am not scared, it is very natural." I was myself comforted by these words because I was the one scared that day!

In his article, Collins wrote about a woman who experienced a bright light in the distance, similar to a full moon. She was sucked toward the light and then she felt overwhelming joy. She never wanted to leave. But because it was not her time to pass, she was jolted back into her body.

This summer, Dr. Kathy Winings organized a conference on near-death experiences. Many people are interested in this topic, often afraid of what will happen when they die. Dietrich, my husband, being a theologian did not fear death.

In her book, The Unquiet Dead: A Psychologist Treats Spirit Possession, psychologist Dr. Edith Fiore reported that she could liberate patients affected by evil spirits. In fact, she was trying to do the work of priests exorcising demons out of people but with a scientific twist to it.

We are living in such a time where Heavenly parent is giving us knowledge to resolve problems such as these. Why will someone do evil acts in their life? Jesus cast away demons out of people and was successful.

it is said in Asia that a very high number of diseases are spiritual! That's why as I said in my previous Insight Story, a good doctor can see both sides: the spiritual and the physical. And YOU can always call for your own wellbeing on archangel Rafael, the archangel of healing.

God Bless you!

Here is an interview with Dr. Kathy Winings where she talks about her own Near-Death Experience - enjoy!
